Desirable Lands for Sale.

Farm of 800 acres in Calhoun County, Alabama within 6 miles of Jacksonville, the county seat, 1 mile of the town of Alexandria, and 7 miles of the North Station for the Jacksonville and Selma Railroad. Three hundred acres open the remainder very heavily timbered with pine and oak. One lot, 160 acres is detached a mile from the main body. Improvements a large framed dwelling with 8 good sized rooms well finished, located in a beautiful oak grove—a necessary out building. There is a large ever flowing spring within 100 yards of the house with a branch flowing into it nearly large enough to turn a mill—also a well of fine water in the yard. It is also a large gin house—a large apple and peach orchard, and taken altogether is one of the most valuable and desirable farms in North Alabama.

ALSO—A Farm of 870 acres more or less in Calhoun County, Ala., within 8 miles of Jacksonville, 1 mile of Alexandria and 7 miles of Blue Mountain Station on the Jacksonville & Selma Railroad—350 acres cleared the balance in original forest heavily timbered. This farm is very finely watered by spring branches which head on the place—50 acres of the open land is a bottom of very superior quality producing a good season 50 bushels of corn per acre and 1 bale of cotton. Improvements a large well finished frame house and all necessary out buildings in a good state of preservation. There is a Baptist church on the land—and the society in the neighborhood equal to any in the State. This farm in the hands of a good practical farmer could be made one of the most productive in the region in which it is located. It lies on 14 miles of cedar fencing taken off the cedar bottom. Lime stone is very abundant on the place which could be converted into lime at very little cost either for market or for fertilizing purposes on the farm.

 A. WOODS, Judge of Probate.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN.—The New York Citizen (edited by private Miles O'Reilly) has an article laudatory of the Fenians, and urging Irishmen and Americans to contribute to the Fenian funds. We quote a single ominous passage.

"We tell the American public—and they have heretofore found us pretty accurate prophets in everything relative to the Fenian cause—that before ten weeks there will be—somewhere—an Irish Republic existing on the face of the earth, with a flag, an army, a port of entry and exit, a navy of privateers, and the tacit encouragement both of France and the United States in the prosecution of belligerent acts against Great Britain. Let no one ask us for the present where this republic will be located, for we cannot answer. It must be called a republic, to warrant the flag and fleet, but will, really, only be used as an immediate basis of operations for the transfer of active hostilities to the Canadian and Irish soils.
 A word to the wise is enough. And now, while the quidnuncs grow excited, the wise will await developments, giving liberally of their means to aid the cause; nor will they have to tarry long for the fulfillment of all that we herein foreshadow."

A HARD HIT.—The New York Commercial Advertiser (Republican) thus refers to the class of Republicans in Congress who voted for negro suffrage in the District of Columbia, but whose constituents oppose it at home:

If it were only possible for the Republicans to be as honest in regard to suffrage in Connecticut, in New York, in Illinois, for instance, as they have in a community where they have no interest except as satraps, it would be an encouraging sign; but in the present infirmity of human nature we must expect to see them busy in removing motives from the eyes south of the Potomac, while they wink at the beams in eyes east of the Hudson and north of the Ohio. It is refreshing to see the names of four Republican members from Connecticut recorded in favor of a measure repudiated by the Republicans of their own State. It shows how careful we are of the consciences of others and how mindless of our own.

A BEAUTIFUL INCIDENT.—In 1847, King William IV. expired about midnight at Windsor Palace. The Archbishop of Canterbury with other peers and high functionaries of the kingdom, were in attendance at the closing scene. As soon as "the scepter had departed," with the last breath of the King, the Archbishop quitted the castle and made his way with all possible speed to Kensington Palace, the residence at that time of the Princess—already, by the law of succession, Queen Victoria. He arrived long before daylight announced himself, and requested an interview with the Princess. She hastily attired herself, and met the venerable prelate in her ante-room. He informed her of the demise of William, and formally announced to her that she was, in law and right, successor to the deceased monarch. The sovereignty of the most powerful nation of the earth lay at the feet of a girl of eighteen! She was "de jure," Queen of the only realm, in fact or history, "on which the sun never sets."

The young princess was deeply agitated at the formidable words so fraught with blessings or calamity. The first words she was able to utter were, "I ask your prayers in my behalf." They knelt down together and Victoria inaugurated her reign, like the young King of Israel in the olden time, by asking from the Most High, who ruleth in the kingdoms of men, "an understanding heart to judge so great a people who could not be numbered nor counted for multitude." The sequel of her reign has been worthy of such a beginning. Every throne in Europe has tottered since that day. Most of them have, for a time, been overturned. That of England was never so firmly seated in the loyalty and love of the people as at this hour. Queen Victoria enjoys a personal influence; too—the homage paid to her as a wife, a mother, and a benefactor of the poor—a Christian woman—incomparably wiser and greater than any monarch now reigning. She is no less admired abroad than loved at home.

Speech of Mr. Voorhies.

Hon. D. W. Voorhies of Indiana, closed his powerful argument in Congress on the 8th, with the following admirable passages:
 I make my appeal to the disinterested impartial, and enlightened masses of the country, without regard to lines of party distinction. They have witnessed the patient labors of the President, and since this Congress convened they have beheld their grand fulfillment. Those wandering stars from the azure field of the flag, those discontented Pleiades that shot madly from their spheres have one by one re-illuminated their rays at the great center of light and of glory. The whole land wept when the beautiful sisterhood was broken. The wall of the heart-broken over the pallid face of the beloved and untimely dead is not more full of anguish than were the hearts of those who loved their fellow men when many of our most brilliant planets denied the law of gravitation and struck defiantly out upon orbits of their own. The sword that was drawn by all Christian hands, more in sorrow than anger, hangs peacefully in its scabbard on the wall. Each section has its reminiscences of sublime devotion of grief, and of glory. These are the brave heart's dearest treasure, and until

"The good knights are dust," they will be hallowed as the devotees hallow the rites of his religion. But peace under the policy of the Executive is celebrating "her victories no less renowned than war." The shining symbols of the revolted race are over our heads, State after State, kindly assisted by the paternal hand of the President, comes to take its place beneath its ancient coat of arms. They cluster around these vacant seats that have so long invited them in vain. They are welcomed by the President as Israel's greatest king welcomed the warlike son of Ner, whose standard had waved twice in rebellion.

Let Congress imitate his example and mark the opening of the new year as an era of perfect reunion and a season of universal joy. "Let oblivion's curtain fall" upon the doleful tragedies of the past. Bury the animosities of a civil war. Take no counsel from their baleful whisperings. Hate is the basest principal of human action. They who have made laws and ruled nations upon motives of vengeance are the monsters whom all history curses with an unbroken voice. The long and deadly proscription lists of Sulla and Marius, Tibullus, and Clodius, gave the names of their victims to the compassion and sympathy of the world, while an immortality of infamy clung unceasingly to those who took private revenge in the name of the public good.

Charity for the errors, the follies, and the crimes of the whole family of imperfect man is the best virtue in the breasts of law givers and rulers. Those who have been guided by its sweet angelic influences constitute the glory of the firmament in the annals of mankind. Cyrus, Scipio and Washington command the love and veneration of ages more by the forbearance, magnanimity and clemency of their character than by the renown of their military achievements. The savage chief may strike his enemy prostrate and powerless at his feet. It is an attribute of divinity which lifts him up and makes him a friend. When Pericles paused upon the opening threshold of eternity and in his dying moments reviewed the events of his great life, he consoled his parting spirit and rested the chief glory of his reign upon the fact that he had never caused a citizen of Athens to shed a tear. From this hour may this Government dry up the tears of its citizens. May no more hearts be wrung with the gloom of the prison or the anguish of death! May the two sections meet again as kindred and friends! The angel of concord will then stir the healing waters for them both; and renewing their glorious youth together, the future of the American Union will be filled with the love and praise of all its citizens.

We are authorized to announce Capt. J. B. Farmer, as a candidate for Probate Judge of Calhoun County—election first Monday in May next.

D. M. FULENWIDER, with Harrell, Eskridge & Sturdivant, of Selma, is our authorized Agent, to contract, receive and receipt for subscription and advertising for the Republican.

We have been requested by Wm. H. Burton, Esq., to withdraw his name from the list of candidates for Probate Judge of this County.

Baker, Graham & Co.—We invite attention to the card of Baker, Graham & Co. Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants of Mobile, and successors to the long established, well known and popular houses of Baker & Lawler, and Baker & Robbins. Persons in this section of country, having Cotton or other produce to ship, or Goods to consign to Mobile to be forwarded from thence, may rely upon the utmost promptitude, fidelity and efficiency by this house.

Persons having Clocks, Watches, Jewelry and Musical Instruments to repair, are referred to the notice of Rev. E. B. McClellan in this paper. They may implicitly rely upon a fair representation by him, of the condition of their articles, skillful and durable repairs and charges made only for services rendered and benefits conferred. He may be found at the "Kala House" two doors north of the Printing Office.

Mr. J. H. PARNELL is now receiving a large lot of Boyd's Prolific Cotton Seed, which he offers at the lowest market price; and those who call to examine them will also have an opportunity to purchase a variety of choice Family Groceries from a very clever and accommodating gentleman.

We give our readers all the news received, foreign and domestic, from Congress our Legislature, &c. Everything seems still in a very unsettled and uncertain condition. Over fifty-seven amendments have been proposed to the United States constitution, but nothing as yet definitely settled. We presume that by the time they are done with it, every member of Congress will have a constitution to suit his taste and politics. One day we hear that the French and Mexican difficulties are all settled—the next war is imminent. We can only calmly await developments, and our readers must do the same.

Woolsey, Goodrich & Co.—We invite special attention to the card of this excellent business firm, in Selma. Mr. Woolsey has been long known and highly esteemed, as a talented, useful and enterprising citizen of Dallas county; and we may safely say that this is one of the first houses of the South for extent and general business facilities. We heartily commend them to the confidence and patronage of all who may have business in their line.

We had the pleasure of a visit in our mansion this morning, by our esteemed friend and Agent D. M. FULENWIDER, of Selma. He will remain a few days in this neighborhood and that of Oxford, on business connected with the firm of Harrell, Eskridge & Co.

In our next we will give two letters from "BILL ARP." Look out for him!

Gen. Sheridan on Monday refused to allow the emigrants to leave New Orleans to go to Mexico. He is acting under orders from Washington. He does not prevent vessels from going.—Mail.

A dispatch from Memphis says it is reported that Gen. Forrest, under the guise of retiring from business in Memphis to his plantation, has gone to Mexico, in consequence of having been notified to appear before a Military Commission in Washington.—Mail.

An address of the Council of the Irish Republican dated at Dublin has been published. It says the work of preparation in Ireland is done. We know our strength. We are not groping in the dark. A point has been reached from which we can see the goal clearly. We call upon you to aid the Irish army of independence, which will soon stand face to face with the enemy. We ask a loan which shall be paid within six months after the establishment of Irish independence.—Mail.

The Alabama Legislature and Mr. Davis.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. HAWTHORN, and adopted: WHEREAS, Jefferson Davis, once President of the Confederate States, and as such commander in chief of their army and navy, has, by the fortunes of war become a prisoner in the hands of the Federal authorities; and, whereas, the army and navy which he commanded has been surrendered or destroyed, and the government over which he was placed by the united voice of the Southern people has been utterly overthrown; and whereas the people themselves, have with the most remarkable unanimity and quietness submitted to the great changes which have taken place, and with few exceptions, have accepted the Executive clemency and renewed their allegiance to the old government; and whereas, all armed opposition to the Federal Government has ceased. Therefore,

Be it Resolved, That while we have in good faith, and without a murmur, submitted to the Federal authority—and though standing in the midst of our broken altars and desolated homes—and though looking upon the graves of our children, and the ashes of our former greatness, yet we cannot as brave men, and as Christian men, stand by and see a great and powerful government winking its vengeance upon a poor feeble old man, whose offence is no greater than that of any other good citizen of the South without protesting against such an ungenerous and unchristianlike course.

Be it further resolved, That the Government of the United States having overcome all armed resistance to its authority, and the people of the South having submitted with scarcely a murmur, it is the duty of the Government, as representing a great and victorious people, to be magnanimous and forgiving—to win back the affections of the Southern people by opening the prison doors of their former President, and Vice President, and all others who are imprisoned for opinion's sake, and by restoring to us all the rights, social, pecuniary and political which we once enjoyed under the Constitution of our fathers. And believing as we do, that His Excellency Andrew Johnson, the President of the United States, will not turn a deaf ear to the united cries of a whole people, and to the wishes and prayers of all Christian nations, therefore,

Be it further resolved, That we earnestly invite and urge upon all public bodies, both political and religious in the South and at the North, in England, France and Germany, and wherever patriotism is known and the God of the Christian is worshipped, to express their sympathy for our suffering and imprisoned President, and to implore the Federal Executive, for the sake of humanity, and the honor of the Christian people over whom he rules, to strike off the chains and throw open the prison doors of Jefferson Davis, and all others who are imprisoned for similar causes, and restore to us the Constitution and laws of our fathers, and thus write everlasting gratitude upon the hearts of the Southern people.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the President of the United States, and one to Mrs. Jefferson Davis.

LETTER FROM HON. MR. LANGDON.—The Mobile Register contains a letter from Hon. C. C. Langdon from which we extract the following:

"A prominent radical remarked to a Southern man, a few days since: 'If we could be assured that your Southern members would not act with the democratic party, they would be admitted tomorrow.' And here is the secret of the whole matter. It is not principle, it is not the constitution, it is not the good of the country, which they are contracting for but it is party—the preservation of party ascendancy, the perpetuation of party power. So long as the Southern States can be kept out of the Union, just so long will power be retained in the hands of the republican party, but not one day longer. Hence the party necessity of keeping them out indefinitely; and it will be done, if it can be done. As remarked in former letters, the President can defeat their schemes, and I trust he will, ere long. But should we be disappointed in this, we must wait with patience for the people to speak through the ballot-box. I am assured that the people of the North will not sustain the action of this radical Congress; that when the issue shall be fairly presented between the policy of the President and that of the radicals, the former will be sustained by an overwhelming majority. Our friends at the North are anxious that this issue should be made, confident that it would result in the utter defeat and final overthrow of this mischievous and unprincipled black republican party.

Test Oath.—If Southern rebels were as dishonest, as Northern Republicans, they would take the oath at once. The leading Republicans, when they swore to support the Constitution, now boast that they did so with the mental reservation as to parts of it which they did not and would not obey. So was it with Chas. Sumner.—Herald.

THE REVENUE BILL.

Mr. Clarke, of Mobile, from the Committee on Ways and Means, submitted the following report:

Your Committee have labored under many embarrassments in forming this bill, from the fact that the annihilation of a large amount of the taxable property of the State by the events of war, has necessitated an entirely new system of taxation, and that while the financial condition of the State demands a larger revenue than ever before to meet her wants, the distresses and impoverished situation of our people makes the exaction of any tax burdensome. It has been the desire of the committee to distribute the weight of taxation in such manner as to secure the revenue required, with as much regard as possible to all the interests involved, taking into consideration the heavy taxes levied upon particular classes by the United States revenue laws.

The State Comptroller, in his latest revision, estimates that the amount of Revenue to be raised by taxation to provide for the necessary expenditures of the current year will be, in round numbers, $800,000; and it is believed that the bill now reported will produce that amount, although the absence of all data for intelligent guidance makes an estimation merely an approximation.

Ordinance No. 5, of the Convention, adopted September 21, 1865, having abrogated all laws previously existing relating to taxation, it became necessary for the Committee to report a new bill, which should embrace the duties of officers and the entire machinery for assessment and collection. In this portion of their labors, the Committee have availed themselves of the experience of V. Gayle Snedecor, Esq., of Greene county, Alabama, as presented in a bill on the subject of Revenue, referred to them by the House, a portion of which they have adopted, with slight modifications. All of which in respectfully submitted.

The bill as reported by Mr. Clarke, of Mobile, is intelligent and complete; and the result of much labor and thought. It is, of necessity, very lengthy, which precludes its publication at this time. It is a bill of importance and interest to the whole people, and we will endeavor to give a correct synopsis of its most important features in a few days.

The report of the Committee was concurred in; and, on motion, the bill was read and adopted section by section. Pending which,

The House adjourned until 3 o'clock, P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met at 3 o'clock, and resumed the consideration of the Revenue Bill, which was passed.—Yeas 51, Nays 23.

CONGRESS.

SENATE.—Mr. Wilson introduced a bill providing for the national defense by establishing a volunteer militia throughout the United States—all able-bodied citizens between the ages of 20 and 45 years, to be enrolled for six years, or during the war if any shall be declared within that period. Officers in the States to be appointed by the Governors, and in the District of Columbia by the President, and shall be selected from persons who have been examined by a military board appointed by the same authority.

The last section provides that the President may order the whole or any part of the volunteer militia into the service of the U. S., during an insurrection, rebellion, foreign war or obstruction of the laws, too strong for civil authorities to overcome, or upon apprehension of either or any member who shall fail to appear without a reasonable excuse may be tried by a court-martial for desertion. The bill was referred to the military committee.

The New Orleans packet Missouri, recently exploded her boilers near the mouth of Green river. The wreck floated down to about a mile and a half above Evansville, Ind., where it sank. She is supposed to have had about one hundred souls on board, of whom only twenty are reported saved.

The steamer Miami, about eight o'clock Sunday evening, burst her boiler on her trip down the Arkansas river about six miles from its mouth. After the explosion, the boat took fire and was totally destroyed.

One hundred and thirty lives were lost. She had 50 cabin passengers; 100 soldiers and 150 deck hands.

Among the passengers saved are Dr. Perkins and Major Rankin.

The Mobile Times learns that the "up-construction train" on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, collided with the "down freight above Cornith, on Monday smashing up things pretty badly, killing the "wood passer," Mr. Roberts of Enterprise, and two others.

The Springfield Republican says "the true thing to do is to give national suffrage to all who can read and write, without respect to color or race, North and South." But who is to give it? Shall the States be left to do it voluntarily, or shall negro suffrage be forced upon them by the general government?

If so, let the Northerners swallow the black pill.

Tax on Cotton.—The South.—The proposition made by Mr. Moorhead, says the Macon Telegraph, to increase the internal revenue tax upon Southern cotton from two to ten cents per pound meets the decided disapprobation of the New York Times, the organ of the conservative wing of the Republicans.

Such a tax, it declares, would, in a few years, give the rivals of this country the advantage in the growing of cotton. It contends that when we could raise cotton at from six to twelve cents a pound we had a monopoly of the chief markets of Europe, and the country was enriched by it; but with the addition of eight to ten cents a pound in the price, that competition which we did not fear will become dangerous.

The Times, in this view of the interest of the Government and the Northern people on the subject, gives the following very proper advice:

"Instead of repressing the raising of cotton by such ruinous taxes on, every possible encouragement should be given to its enlargement. The old planters should be encouraged to resume labor on the free basis; the Northern men who have gone South to engage in planting should be encouraged in their new enterprise, and the negroes should be encouraged to raise cotton on their little patches.—What with the industrial disorganization under which the old planters suffer, the inexperience under which Northern men suffer, and the cruelties of the efforts of the negroes, if a tax be laid such as now proposed, it will just about crush everybody attempting to raise cotton in the South."

POETRY.

CLUBBING.

The following beautiful tribute to the memory of our dear friend, CLUBBING, comes from "The Dublin Nation." He was of that people whose nationality, crushed at home, asserts itself in furnishing the rest of the world with steamships and warriors. It is meet that the Irish Harp should mingle its lament with the notes of woe that go up from the South for our fallen hero. These lines will speak in every Southern heart the thrill which used to answer to his name, when in the day of deadly conflict, the heart stood still and the pulses ceased their beat, until upon the wings of the lightning came the words—CLUBBING and victory.

Selma Messenger.

From the Dublin Nation.
CLUBBING.
How far and fast the autumn blast
Beats the dead leaves o'er the ground!
As fast and far has the hand of war
Strewed our country's brave around!
And their nameless graves are the ocean caves,
The forest and mountain glen,
Where the vulture screams as the angry streams
Are hiding the bones of men!
And what anguished cries
From the South arise
For the brave ones fallen in vain!
While the victor North
Kings peans forth,
And exults in his broad domain!
As he suppresses in "Yankee's" breast,
The latent fire of crime.
In the human frame pulse on the same,
"Till fanned by the storms of time;
As the lava fold, swept uncontrolled
Where Pompeii's glory shone,
So the awakened rage of a Vandal age
When Freedom is overthrown
And we'll look in tears.
Through long, long years,
For the brightness shrouded o'er,
But the golden rays
Of her halcyon days
Shall return to the land no more!

Then fling to the horde their base award—
Their chief his triumphal crown;
Place vile deceit in the judgement seat,
Where honor is trampled down;
Give a patry bribe to the hired scribe,
To the rascal bard his fee;
But him who draws in a righteous cause
A freeman's sword give me!
Though his bones should bleach
On the sea washed beach,
Though his grave be the lowly mound,
His name shall chime
Through the halls of time,
And swell through the deep profound!

Ye brave en masse, who full and pass
To the leaden halls of death,
There are palms for the few, but alas, for you,
Not a leaf from the victor's wreath!
But I sing for one whose glory shone,
Lived a martyr, bright and grand,
Who gave his name to the trumpet of fame,
And died to the generous land!
The festive feast,
The soldier's bust,
The type of a martial age!
The foe of wrong,
The soul of song,
And the light of a future page!

The base grow bold for power and gold,
The vain through fear of scorn;
The brave was strong in their hate of wrong,
But he was a warrior born;
From his eagle glance the stern "Advance!"
And his action, swift as thought,
The rank and file from his own fair tale
Their courage electric caught.
As the whirlwind's path
Shows its fierce track
Through the forest's lordliest pines,
So the deepest wave
Of the fallen brave
Told where CLUBBING crossed the lines.

On Richmond's plain his captive train Outnumbered the host he led;
And he won his stars on the field of Mars
Where the glorious Johnson bled!
'Twas his to cope while a ray of hope Him'd his flag—and then
'Twas his to die while that "few high"
In the van of chivalric men!
Nor a braver host can Erin boast,
Nor than he a more gallant knight,
Since the peerless Hugh Crossed the Avon dhu,
And Bagin's hosts a fight.

There were eyes afar that watched your star
As it rose with the "Southern Cross,"
There were hearts that bled when his course
Was sped,
And Old Ireland felt your loss!
Whither flowers shall blow, or her waters flow
Through Shannon, Suir and Lee,
The patriot's song shall roll along
Their winding waves for thee!
And they'll tell with pride
How CLUBBING died!
In the land of the "free and brave,"
How his sword of might
Was a beam of light
Through it led to an exile's grave.

*The name of Patrick CLUBBING, Lieutenant General in the Confederate army is one which should not be forgotten in the military annals of our race. He fought in "a good cause" and in gallant Company. He was the hero of over thirty pitched battles, and the number of minor actions in which he participated is beyond precedent. He was distinguished for decision and intrepidity, and almost every movement committed to his division was successful. He received the incessant congratulations of the Southern press, and was several times complimented by the Confederate Congress. After the death of Jackson, he got the sobriquet of "The Stonewall" of the South, for he was to the Army of Tennessee what Jackson was to that of Virginia; but, most of all, he was tender and generous to the vanquished, and, as Ferguson says, "Kindly Irish of the Irish." He lies in a lonely grave in the village of Columbia, Tennessee, whither he was borne after the battle of Franklin by one of his officers. I know I have not done justice to his memory, but history will not consign his name to oblivion. Bidding her consideration, let the foregoing be a lead to his memory.

The head of a turtle for several days after its separation from the body retains and exhibits animal life and sensation. An Irishman had decapitated one, and sometime afterwards was amusing himself by putting sticks in its mouth; which it bit with violence. A lady who saw the proceeding exclaimed, "Why, Patrick, I thought the turtle was dead?" "So he is, ma'am," replied Patrick; "but the cruthur's not sensible of it."

An Irishman got out of the carriage at a railway station for refreshments, but unfortunately the bell rang, and the train left before he had finished his repast.

"Hould on!" cried Pat, as he ran like a madman after the train; "hould on, we're in!" said the porter; "ye've got a passenger aboard that's left behind!"

OVER THE RIVER.

Over the River they beckon to me,
Loved on as who've passed to the other side;
The gleam of their snowy robes I see,
But their voices are lost in the dashing tide.
There's one with ringlets of sunny gold,
And eyes the reflection of heaven's own blue;
He crossed in the twilight gray and cold,
And the pale mist hid him from mortal view.
We saw not the angel who met him there,
The gates of the City we could not see;
Over the River, over the River,
My brother stands ready to welcome me.

Over the River the boatman pale,
Carried another—the household pet;
Her bright curls waved in the gentle gale—
Darling Minnie, I see her yet.
She crossed on her bosom her dimpled hands,
And fearlessly entered the phantom bark;
We watched it slide e from the silver sands,
And all our sunshine grew strangely dark.
We know she is safe on the other side,
Where all the ransomed and angels be;
Over the River, the mystic River,
My childhood's idols are waiting for me.

For none return from these quiet shores
Who cross with the boatman cold and pale;
We hear the dip of the golden oars,
We catch a gleam of the snowy sail,
And to they have passed away from our hearth;
They cross the stream and are gone for aye,
We cannot under the veil apart,
That hides from our vision the gates of day;
We only know that their barks no more
Shall sail with ours in life's stormy sea;
Yet somewhere now on the unseen shore,
They watch and beckon and wait for me.

And I sit and think when the sunset's gold
Is flushing river and hill and shore;
I shall one day stand by the water cold,
And list to the sound of the boatman's oar;
I shall watch for the gleam of the flapping sail,
I shall hear the boat as it gains the strand,
I shall pass from sight with the boatman pale
To the better shore of the spirit land!
I shall know the loved who have gone before,
And joyfully greet will the meeting be,
When over the River, the peaceful River,
The Angel of Death shall carry me!

Desirable Lands for Sale.

Farm of 800 acres in Calhoun County, Alabama within 6 miles of Jacksonville the county seat, 1 mile of the town of Alexandria, and 7 miles of Blue Mountain Station on the Jacksonville and Selma Railroad. Three hundred acres open the remainder very heavily timbered with pine and oak. One lot, 100 acres is detached 1 mile from the main body. Improvements a large framed dwelling with 8 good sized rooms well finished, located in a beautiful oak grove—all necessary out buildings. There is a large never failing spring within 100 yards of the house with a branch flowing from it into a large cistern in the yard—it has on it also a large gin house—a large apple and peach orchard, and taken altogether is one of the most valuable and desirable farms in North Alabama.

ALSO—A Farm of 870 acres more or less in Calhoun County, Ala., within 8 miles of Jacksonville, 1 mile of Alexandria and 7 miles of Blue Mountain Station on the Jacksonville & Selma Railroad—250 acres cleared the balance in original forest heavily timbered. This farm is very finely watered by spring branches which head on the place—80 acres of the open land is cedar bottom of very superior quality producing a good season 50 bushels of corn per acre and 1 bale of cotton. Improvements—a large well finished frame house and all necessary out buildings in a good state of preservation. There is a Baptist church on the land—and the society in the neighborhood equal to any in the State. This farm in the hands of a good practical farmer could be made one of the most productive in the region in which it is located. It has on it 14 miles of cedar fencing taken off the cedar bottom. Limestone is very abundant on the place which could be converted into lime at very little cost either for market or for fertilizing purposes on the farm.

We are authorized to announce Capt. J. B. Farmer, as a candidate for Probate Judge of Calhoun County—election first Monday in May next.

D. M. FULENWIDER, with Harrell, Eskridge & Sturdivant, of Selma, is our authorized Agent, to contract, receive and receipt for subscription and advertising for the Republican.

COLD WEATHER.—Thursday and Friday last were the two coldest days of the season. On Friday morning after sunrise, the thermometer in a room stood at 18 deg. above zero, within 8 or 9 degrees we believe of being as low as ever known here. It is supposed by farmers that winter rains have been killed and wheat injured. The weather moderated considerably on Friday evening.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The journal of legislative proceedings for the last few days presents but little of interest, that body having been engaged principally on local business. On the 9th inst. Mr. Forney introduced a bill in the Senate, making a new County out of parts of Randolph and Calhoun, to be called Cleburne. We understand it passed the Senate, but what its fate may be in the House we cannot conjecture. A resolution passed the House to adjourn Wednesday last, but it was tabled in the Senate. We may be enabled to publish the captions of all the public acts in our next paper.

Attention Land Buyers.

See advertisement of sale of 1500 acres of land lying near Blue Mountain, the present terminus of the Ala. & Tenn. R. Railroad—also a tract of land near Jacksonville, and two Town Lots.

See advertisement of sale of valuable lands by Terrell and Bowling Bryant, Administrators.

E. L. Woodward, has just received and offers for sale at low prices, a large lot of Boots and Shoes, of real SUPERIOR QUALITY. He has also received a fine lot of Hats and Caps.

Chandler, Bickel & Co. Jobbers and Dealers, in Dry Goods, Shoes, Hats, Clothing &c. Selma, Ala.—We invite special attention to the card of these gentlemen, in to-day's paper. They have on hand an extensive stock of Staple and Fancy Goods, and by their thorough arrangements and extensive business facilities, will keep their stock always full of seasonable Goods. They are prepared at all times to offer great inducements and rare facilities to country merchants, in keeping their supplies well filled up their stocks.

Major A. J. Winsor, formerly of Oxford, is in this house, ready at all times to wait upon his old friends in his usual prompt, correct and courteous manner.

L. W. Pettibone.—It will be seen by reference to the advertisement of this gentleman, so long and favorably known to many of our citizens, that he has taken the Brick Warehouse near the Railroad depot, and is prepared to attend to the receiving, storing and forwarding business in all its branches, with promptitude and efficiency. We cordially commend him to the confidence of our friends and fellow citizens, who may have business in his line.

It will be seen by reference to their advertisement, that our worthy and enterprising fellow-citizens, Messrs. Donthit & Bickel have commenced the manufacture of that much needed article, tin-ware. The public may rely upon their having good materials, and having work faithfully executed by one of the best workmen in the South. We hope that liberal patronage and merited success may attend their enterprise, so useful and advantageous to the public.

The Legislature will adjourn sine die on Friday, the 23rd instant.

The Governor has issued a general amnesty proclamation, granting full pardon for all offences against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth during the war, murder and rape excepted.

Selma Times.

Washington dispatches state, as if by authority, that the Government has decided that Mr. Davis shall be tried for treason and other high crimes before a military commission. The significant summoning to Washington, therefore, of such distinguished generals as Sherman, Sheridan and Meade, and the arrival, also, of Burton Harrison, who was the private Secretary of Mr. Davis during the war, may now be understood.

Two of them.—The Galveston Bulletin concludes an article on the subject of Mexico by saying:

"If Barnum wishes to engage one of the greatest humbugs of the world, let him secure the Mexican 'Republic.'"

On his way back he might add much to his collection by going to Nashville, and taking a model of the present Government of Tennessee.—Appeal.

Gen. Prim appears in no haste to reach Portugal. On January 18th, the date of the latest advices, he was not only still in Spain, but it was then thought probable that instead of crossing into Portugal, he would attempt to penetrate into Andalusia, the most democratic part of the kingdom. The insurrection therefore cannot be regarded as suppressed. On the contrary, there are several reports of new outbreaks in various parts of Spain, and a semi-official correspondence states that the Government finds it necessary to adopt a most vigorous system of repression.

By the arrival at New York of the steamship Atlantic from Panama we have later advices from Central and South America. The temporary successor of Paredja has raised the blockade of all the Chilean ports save two. It was expected that Peru would declare war against Spain. Two States of Columbia have adopted strong resolutions of sympathy with Chili.

A Havana letter gives the experience of one of Maximilian's garrisons at Bagdad. He charges that the attack on the town and its capture were entirely the work of American soldiers, principally colored, from Texas, commanded by United States officers, and ferried across the river by a United States revenue vessel. He gives the particulars of alleged horrible scenes of pillage, robbery, murder, outrages on women, and manner of crimes to which the captors for some hours devoted their entire attention, and in which it is said they were incited and assisted by Gen. Weitzel's officers, about twenty in number, some of whose names are given. He declares that even soldiers, sent over by Gen. Weitzel to preserve order, took equal part with the raiders in pillaging. The spoils, which are described as immense in quantity and value, and greatly enriching many American officers, are said to have been all dispatched across the Rio Grande to Clarksville and Brownsville, Texas, thence transported to Brazos, and thence sent to sea.

Gen. Hardee.—Gen. Hardee, the hero of a dozen campaigns, the veteran soldier and sterling gentleman, whose courage and genius in the field commanded the admiration of his countrymen, and whose graceful and dignified submission to the fortunes of war wins their hearts now, was in the city yesterday. His deeds will live in song and story long after his spirit shall have gone to God who gave it; and, unless the narrow minded fanatics who can appreciate nothing noble and generous can find some means to bind with chains the affections of the late "rebels," his name will be spoken but with reverence by the present generation, or their children after them.

The Scotchman is none the less a loyal citizen of the British Empire because the name of Bruce thrills his heart and fires his soul; and we scorn the bigot who asks us to forget the illustrious ones who led our brothers and kinsmen and friends to glorious victory or honorable graves.—Selma Times.

Saturday's meeting of the House of Representatives shed additional light on the position of parties in Congress. The speeches delivered on that occasion are very suggestive of a classification of members under some other banner than that of revolution. Of the seven gentlemen who spoke against the bill for extension of the Freedmen's Bureau, three were Democrats, four Republicans. The Republican members who rose superior to the dragooning of Mr. Stevens on that occasion are from Kentucky, Maryland and Ohio.

Distinguished Guest.—We had the pleasure to meet to day our illustrious friend, General Wheeler, whom we have not seen since our first Kentucky campaign in 1862.

The General looks hale and hearty—the same as when, with desperately inferior numbers, he boldly attempted to cut off the rear of Sherman's gigantic army, and only succeeded in building up the fame of Southern gallantry by his daring encounters with General Kilpatrick, who, no less gallant and dashing, possessed such vast material advantages over his adversary.

Both have done wonders to establish the claim of American cavalry to an equal rank with Murat's splendid cuirassiers or Treck's bold pandours.

Mobile Times, 4th.

Petroleum.—On last Tuesday the steamer Undine took down to Gadsdon a car load—$10,000 worth, or thereabouts—of machinery, for boring for Petroleum Oil. We are informed that this machinery belongs to an Atlanta company, of which Mr. J. H. Rogers is Superintendent. It is said that the work of boring will be commenced immediately by practical oil men, who are very sanguine of success. They say the indications of rich deposits are of the very best kind. They are going to make a thorough test as soon as possible. They have a set of hand pumps from the oil regions of Pennsylvania, who thoroughly understand the business.

Rome Courier.

Bill App, the Roman Run- agee.

ATLANTA, May 22, 1864.

Mr. Editor:—Remote, on fringed, melancholy, slow, as somebody said, I am now seeking a log in some vast wilderness, a lonely roost in some Okefinokee swamp, where the fowl invaders cannot travel, nor their pontoon bridges phloast. If Mr. Shakespeare were correct when he writ that "sweet are the juices of adversity," then it is reasonable to suppose that me and my folks and many others have some sweetnin to spare.

When a man is aroused in the dead of night, and smells the approach of the fowl invader: when he feels constrained to change his base and become a runagee from his home, leaving behind him all those necessary things which hold body and soul together, when he looks, perhaps the last time, upon his lovely home where he has been for many delightful years raising children and chickens, strawberries and peas, lie soup and inyunis, and all such luxuries of this subnary life; when he imagines every unusual sound to be the crack of his earthly doom; when from sick influences he begins a dignified retreat, but soon is constrained to leave the dignity behind, and get away without regard to the order of his going—if there is any sweet juice in the like of that, I haven't been able to see it. No, Mr. Editor, such things never happened in Bill Shakespeare's day, or he would have written that line.

I don't know that the lovely inhabitants of your beautiful city needs any forewarnin to make 'em avoid the breakers upon which our vessel wrecked, but for fear they should some day shake their gory locks at me, I will make public a brief allusion to some of the painful circumstances which lately occurred in the regions of the eternal sitty.

Not many days ago, the everlastin Yankees, (may they live alive when the devil gets em), made a violent attack upon the city of the hills—the eternal sitty, where a hundred years the Injun rivers have been boundin their waters peacefully together—where the choick-taw children built their butter mills, and toyed with frogs and tadpoles, while these majestic streams were but spring branches, a babbling along their sandy beds. For 3 days and nights our valiant troops had beat back the fowl invader, and saved our pullets from their devourin jaws. For 3 days and nights we bade farewell to every fear, and luxuriating upon the triumph of our arms, and the sweet juices of our strawberries and cream. For 3 days and nights fresh troops from the South poured into our streets with shouts that made the welkin ring, and the turkey bumps rise all over the flesh of our people. We felt that Rome was safe—secure against the assaults of the world, the flesh and the devil, which last individual are supposed to be that horde of fowl invaders, who are seekin to plank us out of both bread and existence.

But alas for human hopes? Man that is born of woman, (and there are no other sort that I know of,) has but few days that ain't full of trouble. Altho the troops did shout, altho their brass-bound musik swelled upon the gate, altho the turkey bumps rose as the welkin rung, altho the commanding General assured us that Rome was to be held at every hazard and that on to morrow the big battal was to be fount, and the fowl invaders hurled all bleeding and howling to the shores of the Ohio; yet it did transpire somehow that on Tuesday night, the Military evacuation of our sitty were peremptorily ordered. No note of warnin—no whisder of alarm—no hint of the morrow came from the muzzled lips of him who had lifted our hopes so high. Kindly and coolly we smoked our killy kinick, and surveyed the embarkation of troops, konstruin it to be some grand maneuver of Military strategy. About 10 o'clock we retired to dream of to-morrow's victory. Sleep soon overpowered us like the fog that kivered the earth, but nary bright dream had kum, nary vision of freedom and glory. On the kustrung, our rest were uneasy—strawberries and cream seemed to be holdin secession meetings within our corporate limits, when suddenly in the twinkling of an eye, a friend ar used us from our slumber and put a new face upon the situation. General Johnston was retreatin, and the blue-nosed Yankees were to pollute our sakrid soil the next mornin. Then came the tog of war. With hot and feverish haste we started out in search of transportation, nary transport could be had. Time be-ored friendship, past favors shown, everlastin gratitude, numerous small and lovely children, kondegrade kurrency, new ishees, bank bills, black bottles, all influences were urged and used to sekure a kornin in a kar, but nary kornin—too late—too late—the pressure for time was fearful and tremendous—the steady clock moved on—no Joshua about t lengthen out the night, no rolin stock, no steer, no mule. With reluctant and hasty steps, we prepared to make good our exit by that overland line, which Railroads do not control, nor A. Q. M.'s impress.

With our families and a little clothing, we crossed the Blowah-bridge about the broke of day, on Wednesday the 17th day of May, 1864, prezakly a year and two weeks from the time when General Forrest marched in triumph through our streets. By and by the bright rays of the mornin sun dispersed the heavy fog, which, like a pall of death had overspread all nature. Then were exhibited to our afflicted gaze a highway crowded with wagons and teams, kattle and ogs, niggers and dogs, women and children, all movin in dishevelled haste to places and parts unknown. Mules were brayin, cattle were lowin, hogs were squeelin, sheep were blatin, children were cryin, waggeneers cussin, whips were poppin and horses stallin; but still the grand karavan moved on. Everybody was continually a lookin behind and drivin before—everybody wanted to know everything, and nobody knew nothing. Ten thousand wild rumors filled the sirkumambient air. The everlastin kavaly was there, and as they dia-hed to and fro, gave false alarms of the enemy bein in hot pursuit.

About this most kritical juncture of affairs, some philanthropic friend passed by with the welkum news that the bridge wer burnt, and the danger all over. Then ceased the panic; then came the peaceful enlms of heroes after the strife of war is over; then exclaimed Frank Ralls, my demoralized friend, "thank the Good Lord for that. Bill, let's return thanks, and stop and rest. Boys, let me git out and lie down, I'm as humble as a ded nigger. I tell you the truth, I sung the long meter doxology as crossed the Blowah bridge, and I expected to be a ded man in fifteen minits. Be thankful fellers—der's all be thankful, the bridge is burnt, and the river is three miles deep. Good sakes! do you rekun them Yankees kan swim? Git up, boys—let's drive ahead and keep movin. I tell you, there's no akountin in for anything with blue clothes on these days. Dingid if I uint afered of a blue tailed fly."

With most distressin flow of language, he continued his rapsody of random remarks. Then there was that triumph of good fellows, Big John—clever as he is fat, and as fat as old fastaff—with indefatigable diligenc, he had sekured, as a last resort, a ouc-horse steer spring wagon, with a low flat body a setin on two ricketty springs. Bein mounted thereon, he was urg'n a more speedy lokomeshun, by layin on to the karkass of the poor old steer with a thrash-pole some ten feet long. Havin stopped at a house, he prekured a two-inch augur, and borin a hole through the dash-board, pulled the steers tail through and tied up the end in a knot. "My runnin gear is weakly," sed he, "but I don't in-tend to be stuck in the mud. If the body holds good, and the steer d-n't pull off his tail, why Bill, I am safe." "My friend," sed I, "will you please to inform me what port you are bound for and when you expect to reach it?" "No port at all, Bill," sed he; "I'm goin to s rate to the big Stone Mountain. I am gote to git on the top and roll rocks down upon all mankind. I now forewarn every livin thing not to cum there until this everlastin foolishness is over."

He were then but three miles from town, and been travlin the livelong night. Ah! my big friend, thought I, when will thou arrive at thy journey's end. In the language of Patrick Henry will it be the next weeks or the next year? Oh, that I could write a poem. I would embalm thy honest face in epik verse. I can only drop to thy pleasant memory a passing random rhyme:

Farewell, Big John, farewell;
'Twas painful to my heart
To see thy chances of escape,
Was that old steer and kart.
Much nks I see thee now,
With axletrees all broke,
And wheels with nary hub at all
And hubs with nary spoke.
But though the mud is deep,
Thy wits will never fail,
That faithful steer will take thee out,
If thou wilt hold his tail.
Mr. Editor, under such variegated scenes we reported progress, and in course of time arrived under the shadow of thy sitty's wings, abundant in gratitude and joy.

With sweet and patient sadness, the tender haars of our wives and daughters beat mournfully as we moved along. Often alas, how often, was the tear seen swimming in the eye, and the lip quivering with emotion, as memory lingered around deserted homes, and thoughts dwelt upon past enjoyments and future desolation. We plucked the wild flowers as we passed, sing sons of merriment, exchanged our wit with children—smothering, by every means, the sorrow of our fate. These things, together with the comic events that occurred by the way, were the safely valves that saved the poor heart from bursting.

But for them, our heads would have been fountains and our hearts a river of tears. Oh! some kind friend would set our retreat to music it would be a plaintive tune, interspersed with ok-as onal comic notes and frequent ges skattered promiskuously.

Our retreat were kondo-ted in excellent good order after the bridge was burnt. If there were any struggin a-a-a, they struggled ahead. It would have delighted Gen. Johnston to have seen the alacrity of our movement. The great struggle of our contest seemed to be, which army could retreat the fastest. Gen. Johnston's or ours—which could outplank the other, and I at ow as how it were pull Dick pull D-vil betwe u em. It was a source of egret, however, that some of our households of the African race have tell back into the arms of the fowl invaders. I suppose they may now be kalled missingenators, and are by this time increasin the stock of Oduwa-Afrigue in Northern society, which popular perfume have crowded out of the market all those extracts which made X Bazin, Julius Hall and Lubin famous. Good bye sweet otter of Roses, farewell ye beams of a thousand flowers—your days are numbered.

But I must klose this melokolly narrative, and hasten to subkrib myself, Your Runagee, BILL ARP.

P. S.—Tip are still faithful onto the end. He says the old turkey we left behind, have been settin for 14 weeks, and the fowl invaders are welkum to her; father-more, that he throw a deddell in the well, and they are welkum to that.

Farm of 800 acres in Calhoun county. Alabama within 6 miles of Jacksonville the county seat, 1 mile of the town of Alexandria, in 7 miles of the Mountain Station on the Jacksonville and Selma Railroad. Three hundred acres open the remainder very heavily timbered with pine and oak. One lot, 160 acres is detached 4 mile from the main body. Improvements a large framed dwelling with 8 good sized rooms well finished, located in a beautiful oak grove—all necessary out buildings. There is a never failing spring within 100 yards of the house with a branch flowing from it nearly large enough to turn a mill—also a well of fine water in the yard—it has on it also a large gin house—a large apple and peach orchard, and taken altogether is one of the most valuable and desirable farms in North Alabama.

ALSO—A Farm of 870 acres more or less in Calhoun county, Ala., within 8 miles of Jacksonville, 1 mile of Alexandria and 7 miles of Blue Mountain Station on the Jacksonville & Selma Railroad—250 acres cleared the balance in original forest heavily timbered. This farm is very finely watered by spring branches which head on the place—80 acres of the open land is cedar bottom of very superior quality producing a good season 50 bushels of corn per acre and 1 bale of cotton. Improvements—a large, well finished frame house and all necessary out buildings in a good state of preservation. There is a Baptist church on the land and the society in the neighborhood equal to any in the State. This farm in the hands of a good practical farmer could be made one of the most productive in the region in which it is located. It has on it 13 miles of cedar fencing taken off the cedar bottom. Lime stone is very abundant on the place which could be converted into lime at very little cost either for market or for fertilizing purposes of the farm.

Foundering of the Steam Ship London.

LOSS OF TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY LIVES—
TERRIBLE SCENES.

The steamship London from London to Melbourne, has foundered at sea, with about 270 souls on board. The survivors—sixteen of the crew and three passengers—were landed at Falmouth on January 16. The Western Mail gives the following account of the closing scene of the terrible disaster:

It was at ten o'clock on the morning of that fated Thursday that Capt. Martin had the terrible task of making known to the two hundred passengers that the ship was sinking and that they must prepare for the worst. She was then as low in the water as the main chains. The whole of the passengers and crew gathered, as with one consent, in the chief saloon, and having been calmly told by Capt. Martin that there was no hope left, a remarkable and unanimous spirit of resignation came over them at once. There was no screaming or shrieking by women or men, no rushing on deck, or frantic cries. All calmly resorted to the saloon, where Rev. Dr. Draper, one of the passengers, prayed aloud and exhorted the unhappy creatures by whom he was surrounded. Dismay was present to every heart, but disorder to none. Mothers were weeping sadly over the little ones about, with them to be engulfed, and the children, ignorant of the coming death, were pitifully inquiring the cause of so much woe. Friends were taking leave of friends, as if preparing for a long journey; others were crouched down with Bibles in their hands, endeavoring to snatch consolation from passages long known or neglected. Incredible, were we told was the composure which under the circumstances, reigned around. Capt. Martin stationed himself in the poop, going occasionally forward or into the saloon; but to none could he offer a word of comfort by telling them that their safety was even probable. He joined now and then for a few moments in the public devotion, but his place to the last was on deck. About two o'clock in the afternoon, the water gaining fast on the ship, and no signs of the storm subsiding being apparent, a small band of men determined to trust themselves to the mercy of the waves in a boat rather than go down without a struggle. Leaving the saloon, therefore, they got out and lowered away the port cutter, into which sixteen of the crew and three passengers succeeded in getting, and in launching her clear of the ship. These nineteen men shouted for the captain to come with them, but with that heroic courage which was his chief characteristic, he declined to go, saying: "No, I will go down with the passengers; but I wish you God speed and a safe land." The boat then pulled away, tossing about helplessly on the crests of the gigantic waves. Scarcely had they gone eighty yards or been five minutes off the deck, when the steamer went down, stern foremost with her crew of human beings, from whom one confused cry of helpless terror rose, and all was silent forever.

After the pinprick had got away from the London, and in the brief interval before she foundered, a rush was seen to be made for the two remaining boats, but the efforts to launch them were ineffectual, and the suddenness of the foundering at last—the London being an iron-clad—prevented what might have been a successful second attempt to save a few more lives.

Sad Effects of Excessive Dancing.

The following item is from the Christian Herald, published at Moulton in Lawrence county:

We have an occurrence to chronicle, that should make a deep impression upon every lover of fashionable amusement of dancing.

On Friday the 16th ult. as we are informed, there was a dancing party at the residence of Mr. Scott, near Avoca in this county. The weather was extremely warm, oppressive ly so, in the early part of the night, but in the morning before day the temperature changed very suddenly, and it became extremely cold. The young people were engaged in dancing during most of the night and became very much heated by their exercise. In this condition they started home. The sudden change of the weather and excited state of

The Condition of the Country—Course and Policy of the Radicals—Policy and Firmness of the President.

We have heretofore published various extracts from replies made by the President to delegations which have waited upon him from all parts of the country, which shadowed forth his principles and policy, and which thus far he has uniformly, consistently and firmly maintained.

Below we give some extracts from the Presidents reply to the Virginia delegation, which waited upon him, composed of the most eminent men, and representing all parts of the State. From these extracts it will be seen that the President still firmly maintains his position that the Southern States were never out of the Union, and of course are not out now. He touches no other key note. "No taxation without representation," which, if we mistake not, will soon shake the fabric of Black Republican inconsistency, misrule, agitation and disunion to its very centre, and insure its speedy overthrow. That party continued agitation until it obtained power, produced revolution and disruption—carried on a four years war under the false and hypocritical cry of the old flag, the Union as it was, and constitution, as it is, "until they succeeded, and then with shameless inconsistency, contend that the States are out of the Union, and oppose their re-admission. By fanatical agitation they got into power, and now by the same means, and opposition to all measures of restoration, they seek to perpetuate that power. Ignoring all the peaceful, conservative, and restorative action of State Convention, Legislatures, Governors, and Delegations of citizens, their Senators and Representatives, are daily reading in the Hall of Congress, anonymous letters, to which even the obscure authors, (if they have any) are ashamed to put their names, to prove that the Southern people are still rebellious. Sending forth "mousing and snelling committees into the South, as eyes droppers and spies, whose reports no doubt could be written out as well before they start as on their return; and the utmost of whose achievements, in passing through a desolated and deeply suffering country, might be to snatch up & report some impatient moan from a bereaved father or broken-hearted widow. We ask if such proceedings are not mean, pitiful and shameful; a disgrace to any great and chivalrous nation. Have not the Southern States done all that was required of them? given every possible guarantee, in good faith of a sincere desire for peace, union and fraternity?—then why persevere in this system of deliberate persecution and continued disruption.

But the "test oath" (a measure originally designed for times of war and not of peace,) is the great lever by which the disunion Black Republican Radicals have thus far had their own way. To adhere to such a measure now, in time of peace, after all necessity for it has passed away, is as inconsistent as it would be for a Church to require of one seeking admission to take an oath that he had never committed a sin or sympathized with any one who had. The question is, not what people have been, but what are they now; and what do they desire for the future. Surely the handwriting is upon the wall against this inconsistent, disorganizing, disunion Radical party, and their overthrow near at hand. Recently one of Tad Stevens' most radical resolutions received only thirty-seven votes.

But to the extract from President Johnson: among many other good, true and strong things in reply to the Virginia delegation he said:

"Gentlemen, that is a fundamental principle. "No taxation without representation" was one of the principles which carried us through the Revolution. This great principle will hold good yet; and if we but perform our duty—if we but comply with the spirit of the resolutions presented to me to-day, the American people will maintain and sustain the great doctrines upon which the Government was inaugurated. It can be done and it will be done; and I think that if the effort be fairly and fully made, with forbearance and with prudence, and with discretion and wisdom, the end is not very far distant.

It seems to me apparent that from every consideration the best policy which could be adopted at present would be a restoration of these States and of the Government upon correct principles. We have some foreign difficulties, but the moment it can be announced that the Union of the States is again complete, we have resumed our career of prosperity and greatness at that very instant; almost all our foreign difficulties will be settled, for there is no power upon the earth which will care to have a controversy or a rupture with the Government of the United States under such circumstances.

If these States be fully restored the area for the circulation of the National currency, which is thought by some to be inflated to a very great extent, will be enlarged, the number of persons through whose hands it is to pass will be increased, the quantity of commerce in which it is to be employed as a medium of exchange will be enlarged, and then it will begin to approximate, what we all desire, a specie standard. If all the States were restored—if peace and order reigned throughout the land, and all the industrial pursuits, all the avocations of peace were again resumed—the day would not be far distant when we could put into the commerce of the world $250,000,000 or $300,000,000 worth of cotton or tobacco, and the various products of the Southern States, which would constitute in part, a basis of this currency.

Then instead of the cone being inverted, we should reverse the position, and put the base at the bottom, as it ought to be, and the currency of the country will rest on a sound and enduring basis, and surely that is a result which is calculated to promote the interests not only of one section, but of the whole country from one extremity to the other. Indeed, I look upon the restoration of these States as being indispensable to all our greatness.

I never for a moment entertained the opinion that a State could withdraw from the Union of its own will. That attempt was made. It has failed. I continue to pursue the same line of policy which has been my constant guide. I was against dissolution. Dissolution was attempted; it has failed; and now I cannot take the position that a State which attempted to secede is out of the Union, when I contended all the time that it could not go out, and that it never has been out. I cannot be forced into that position. Hence, when the States and their people have complied with the requirements of the Government, I shall be in favor of their resuming their former relations to the Government in all respects.

They are, so far as they refer to the Constitution of the country, the sentiments and the principles embraced in that charter of the Government. The preservation of the Union has been, from my entrance into public life, one of my cardinal tenets. At the very inception of this rebellion I set my face against the dissolution of the Union of the States. I do not make this allusion for the purpose of bringing up anything which has transpired which may be regarded as of an unkind or unpleasant character; but I believe then, as I believe now, and as you have most unmistakably indicated, that the security and the protection of the rights of all the people were to be found in the Union; that we were certainly safer in the Union than we were out of it.

Upon this conviction I based my opposition to the efforts which were made to destroy the Union. I have continued those efforts, notwithstanding the perils through which I have passed, and you are not unaware that the trial has been a severe one. When opposition to the Government came from one section of the country, and that the section in which my life had been passed, and with which my interest were identified, I stood, as I stand now, contending for the Union, and ascertaining that the best and surest way to obtain our rights and to protect our interests was to remain in the Union, under the protection of the Constitution.

The ordeal through which we have passed during the last four or five years demonstrates most conclusively that the opposition was right, and to-day, after the experiment has been made and has failed; after the demonstration has been most conclusively afforded that this Union cannot be dissolved; that it is extremely gratifying to me to meet gentlemen as intelligent and as responsible as yourselves, who are willing and anxious to accept and do accept the terms laid down in the Constitution and obedience to the laws made in pursuance thereof.

We were at one period separated; the separation was to me painful in the extreme; but now, after having gone through the struggle in which the powers of the Government have been tried, when we have swung around to a point at which we meet to agree and are willing to unite our efforts for the preservation of the Government, which I believe is the best in the world, it is exceedingly gratifying to me to meet you to-day, standing upon common ground, rallying around the Constitution and the Union of these States, the preservation of which, as I conscientiously and honestly believe, will result in the promotion and the advancement of this people.

Attention is invited to the card of W. C. Land, Watch maker, who has removed to the South side of the public Square. Mr. L. is known to many as an ingenious and skillful workman.

Mexico—Cordova.—We have been favored with the perusal of a letter from Mr. G. W. Tate, of this place, dated Havana, Feb. 1st. Mr. T. left this place some months since for Mexico, with the objects of improving his health and examining the country. He had been to Cordova, previous to writing the letter, and says that Mexico has the finest climate and richest soil he ever saw, but gives no special description of the country, having done so in former letters which never came to hand. His health has improved in that fine climate, but he expressed the determination to return about the first of April. Should any of his letters come to hand containing interesting descriptions of the country, we will publish extracts from them, for the information of our readers.

Science.—Yesterday morning, about day-light, Mr. J. Z. Brady, living about four miles south of this place, committed suicide by hanging himself in an out-house near his dwelling. Mr. B. was a poor but industrious and honest man, & no cause is assigned or conjectured for his melancholy end, unless it should have been embarrassment and distress of mind, of which he had frequently complained of late, of the difficulty of procuring means to support himself and family. May his fate be a stimulant to the philanthropy of hundreds, who in these times of distress are hoarding up more than they need, while many others are suffering for the commonest necessities of life.

Quite an excitement was created in the Kentucky Legislature, on Saturday by Mr. Dudley introducing a resolution in relation to the taking of a prisoner, who had been arrested for the murder of a negro, from the hands of the civil authorities by the military, under orders from the Freedmen's Bureau in Mercer county. Several Senators denounced the government as a despotism, and said that they were ready, if the Government did not redress the wrongs of Kentucky, to resist those wrongs even at the point of the bayonet. They would rather die freemen than live slaves. Forbearance had ceased to be a virtue. The resolution provides that the Governor shall investigate the facts in the case, and if true, request the President to at once dismiss General Fisk and Capt. Goodloe from the service, and deliver them up to the civil authorities for trial and punishment. The resolution was then adopted.—Nashville Banner 14th inst.

New York, Feb. 8.—At the New Hampshire Democratic Convention, ex-president Pierce made a brief address, in which he said: Our country has passed through serious perils, but I hope that we are now emerging from the thick darkness which at one time brooded over us. The present time calls for the calm, dispassionate and patriotic exertions of all good men in the work of restoration, not merely in form, but a restoration of common interests, fraternal feelings and equality of rights among all the States. The annual message of President Johnson was admirable, and in my judgment his subsequent steps looking to a restoration have been guided by wisdom, patriotism, and statesmanship forecast. I am pleased to greet as co-workers in a noble cause all men who desire the immediate restoration of the Southern States to their civil rights, and who are willing to join efforts in saving whatever may be saved for the prosperity of our common country. Under any circumstances it would be a blot to despair of the republic.

SLAUGHTER AMONG HORSE THIEVES.—The Memphis Commercial mentions the depredations of a gang of horse thieves in Tishomingo and Irawamba counties, Mississippi, and the termination of their operations. It says:

The citizens of Saltillo gaining an inkling of the matter, set detectives on their track, and readily ferreted out their entire system of plundering. A week ago last Friday, this gang headed by Bowly, who resides about three miles outside this city, on the Germantown plank road, entered the town of Saltillo and were immediately arrested by the citizens, who, upon consultation, determined upon ridding the community of such ruffians, and in a short time thereafter, Bowly, with his six confederates, were ordered to be shot. This sentence was carried into immediate execution, and these bad men thus expiated the folly of their manifold crimes.

A letter from Brownsville, Texas, states that Escobado, with the forces under his command, has left the Rio Grande for the interior of Mexico, and that the Liberal army, so-called, is almost a myth. A few roaming bands of desperadoes are committing all sorts of depredations on both sides of the river.

If it pleases the public press of the North to style Captain Raphael Semmes, of the Confederate man-of-war "Alabama," a pirate by what name are we to know those of even higher rank who committed depredations in the South, at which humanity revolts? If Captain Semmes, with his chivalric nature—whose only fault was that he destroyed the Federal marine wherever he could find it during the last four years, and upon whose fair shield there is not a blot of which he need be ashamed—if he be a pirate, what is Butler; what is—and a dozen others whose names may not be prudently mentioned now? A man sometimes cries "thief, thief," who is not over honest himself.—South Carolinian.

New York, Feb. 17.—The Herald's Vera Cruz dispatches to the 1st instant, state that there was great activity in French military affairs at Vera Cruz, but not of a character to indicate an early evacuation of the country by the Europeans. French troops were arriving in large numbers from the interior and embarking on transports. It was understood that they were bound for the defense of Tampico, which was seriously threatened by the Republicans, and it was even intimated that they were intended for the frontier service on this side of the line of the Panama river, in order to be there in readiness to meet and check the advance of the allies, the Liberals in Mexico and from the United States. There was a rumor that the Imperialists had already been compelled to surrender Tampico though an account of a severe defeat of the Republicans in the vicinity of that city comes to us by way of New Orleans.

A special from Cincinnati says twenty-seven children were drowned on the 9th inst. at Cilina, Ohio, sliding up on a reservoir. The ice gave way, and all were drowned before assistance reached them.

The Freedmen's Bureau Bill.

This bill, which has passed both Houses of Congress, is now in the hands of the President. A cabinet meeting to consider it, has been held. A letter from Washington states that the President had made sundry objections to it, on constitutional grounds, and was sustained by Messrs. Seward, McCulloch and Welles. The remainder of the cabinet, with the exception of Mr. Denison (who was in doubt), disagreed. The latter adds: The President let no doubt of his intention to veto the bill. If the President's objections, as stated are based on Constitutional grounds, he cannot do otherwise than veto the bill, however much he may believe in the present necessity of some such a law. It is useless, however, to speculate upon the matter. The question will be decided in a few days.—Nash. Union.

THE CASE STATED.—A Tennesseean, in the course of a private letter, states the case as follows:

Now suppose the fanatics shall declare us out of the Union, will it not be a pretty commentary on a four years' war for the Union and the Constitution?

What will be my of the idea of the great Union army, of the Union cause, the flag of the Union, and all sort of things? We of the South fought to get out. They fought to keep us in, whipped us, we thought, back again, and then declare we cannot come in; not one of us! Well, judges look strange, but it may be all right. I shall make no fuss about it; it is their business, not mine, I shall behave myself, in or out; I am utterly opposed to a mere factious opposition to the Government. It is unmanly. We fought our fight out; got whipped, and now intend to do our duty by submitting to the laws like gentlemen.

Snake in a Man's Stomach.—The Newville (Pa.) Star says that Wm. Hatton, a young man residing in Shippenburg, one day last week, vomited a live snake about eighteen inches long, and more than half an inch thick. He swallowed it while drinking from a pool in Idaho, about four months ago, and has suffered great distress in his stomach ever since, complaining especially of a sensation of coldness. He returned to his home in Shippenburg, expecting soon to die. After undergoing an unsuccessful treatment by a great many medical men, he stated his case to a physician in Philadelphia, who prescribed an emetic, which was taken, with the above result. It came near strangling him, and before he was relieved, he was black in the face.

A PROCLAMATION.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF ALABAMA,
Montgomery, Feb. 13, 1866.

To all to whom these presents shall come.

WHEREAS, An act of the General Assembly, approved December 1st, 1865, authorizes the Governor to exercise the pardoning power before conviction in all cases where the individuals have been may hereafter be found for offenses against the laws of the State; And,

whereas, information has reached this department that numerous individuals have been found in different parts of this State for acts done during the late war, which acts seem to have been committed in the troubles through which this State has just passed, and it is believed that a public good will result from prosecution upon such individuals; but that such will result therefrom, and it is desirable that all proper means be employed to promote peace among all classes of the people, and to this end it is proper to exercise such pardoning power as may be deemed proper under the laws, but were done under the excitement and excitement of a fierce and sanguinary war.

Now, therefore, with a view as far as possible of restoring harmony and peace among the people, and to assuage the animosities engendered by the recent war, I, R. M. Patton, Governor of the State of Alabama, by virtue of the power and authority in me vested by said act, do issue this proclamation granting amnesty and pardon to all persons who have been or are liable to be indicted or prosecuted for offenses committed against the laws of the State, the crimes of rape and murder excepted, between the commencement of hostilities, on the 4th day of April 1861, and the restoration of civil government by the proclamation of His Excellency the Provisional Governor of Alabama, on the 24th day of July, 1865; and I call upon the judicial officers hereby relieved of a difficult and impracticable duty, and upon all citizens of this State, by strict and impartial justice and increased vigilance give such effect to the laws of the State and of the United States as will be peace and order; and thus not only remove all pretext for military surveillance.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at the city of Montgomery, this 13th day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and the Independence of the United States America the seventh.

R. M. PATTON,
Governor of Alabama.

By the Gov. Adm't. Sec'y.

STAY LAW.

After a lengthy consideration of the question, the Legislature has agreed in a bill to stay executions. It will be found in another column of this morning's issue. The act makes the first after the 1st of March the return

next term is the Appearance term next is the Trial term. This makes trial term twelve months after the return term. When the trial is over judgment rendered, the execution is stayed upon the defendant until a "suggestion" of error (not with a bill.) The next term after the return term becomes the Appearance term

"Suggestion" term, and the next term

after the trial term is the Suggestion term. The suggestion, thus, puts the case over for two years from the original return term. If, however, when the case comes up for trial the party

pleads guilty, the debt with interest, is again put off six months. The effect of the law is to postpone execution, except upon debts due the State, for two years, and then to give the party one year longer in which to pay the debt in three equal installments. This law applies only to suits which have been brought or may be brought on or after May 1st, 1866. It applies to debts and debts of trust with power

when the mortgage or trustee possession; but does not apply to debts for rent and unlawful detainer.

The law also gives Justice only two years during the year for the trial of cases; and places six months between the terms of the City Court.

The oil was found, but it was

THE PRESIDENT AND THE PRESIDENCY.

The Washington correspondent of the Washington Daily News writes:

The progress is gradually becoming impressed with the idea that Congress will allocate time to them, which of course is a correct one, and they therefore fill up the galleries of both

Senate and House to such an extent as to crowd out the white people. In the Senate this has become such a nuisance that even the families of Republican

Senators could not obtain seats during the session. The Vice-President's room, has, therefore, set apart a portion of the galleries exclusively for the colored people. In the House, however, they crowd in each day until one side of the spacious galleries for the whole length of the House is black as night.

Several members have alluded to the fact that these negroes are enabled to come here because they are supported in idleness by the Freedmen's Bureau.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE PRESIDENCY.

In reply to the Montana delegation,

Mr. Johnson said:

"Here let me say to you, in order to disabuse the public mind as far as it is possible for an individual to do so, that my public career is well-nigh done.

"The wind of my political glass has well-nigh run out.

And now in this position, if I can be instrumental in restoring the Government of the United States, in restoring to their true position in the Union those States whose relations to the National Government have been for a time interrupted by one of the most gigantic rebellions that ever occurred in the world,

so that when we can proclaim once more that we are a united people, I shall feel that the measure of my ambition has been filled; and I shall be glad to retire, and at that point, there be any who are envious and jealous of honor and position, I shall be prepared to make them as political bows as I know how, and think them to be the place I have occupied for my mission will have been fulfilled."

FEAR INFLUENCE ALL ASPIRANTS, who are trying to form their combinations for the future, who want to make one organization for one purpose, and another for another, that they are not in my way;

I am not a candidate for any position,

and hence I repeat I can afford to do right, and, being in that condition, I will do right. I make that announcement for the purpose of letting all know that my work is to restore the Government—not to make combinations with any reference to any future candidate for the Presidency of the United States. I have reached the utmost round; my race is run, so far as that is concerned; my object is to perform my duty, and that I will endeavor to do.

Homesteads for Negroes.

On the 8th inst. the Rump House passed a bill, by a vote of ayes one hundred and two, nays twenty-nine, allowing negroes to take up and settle upon

Government lands in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Florida,

under the Homestead acts of May 20,

1862, and March 21, 1864, in the same manner as white men. These acts allow the taking up of eighty acres by each actual settler, upon the payment of a fee of ten dollars. The bill just passed for the States mentioned reduces this fee to one dollar for each patent, provided that no distinction shall be made on account of color.

If the bill should become a law, then in many of the Southern States white men have the same privileges and London Times on American Politics.

If the proposals of Mr. Stevens and his friends are adopted, the Union will never be restored at all. For an indefinite time to come one-half of its organized territories, and one-fourth of its citizens will be outside its pale, and even when they are once more included it will not be upon the original terms.

La-short the result of the war will not be renewed integrity of the Union by the recovery of the seceding States, but simply the reduction of those States to the condition of conquered provinces.

This obvious conclusion would suffice to convict the Radical politicians of violence and wrong, but is plainly asserted that the advocates of the measures in question have not even the excuse of passion or fanaticism to allege for their conduct. They are not so much misguided as designed. They are fighting against principles dangerous to the commonwealth, but intriguing against a political party opposed to themselves.

They wish to preserve their majority in Congress, and to turn the power so acquired to their own advantage.

If the representatives of the Southern States were admitted, the Republican majority would be gone, and the Republicans, therefore, are promoting their own political interests in keeping them out. That we are assured, is the true explanation of their present measures.

We remarked upon the probable influence of such motives in our days; but our recent correspondence represents these considerations as actually deciding the politics of the party. The escape from the difficulty as now contemplated will appear singular enough.

THE AMERICANS have difficulties enough already before them without the complication and aggravation which political fanaticism would create; and the wise and prudent policy of President

Johnson will certainly be recognized in this country as expressing all the best interests of the Union.

POETRY.

How the Money Goes.

BY JOHN G. KAY.

How goes the money?—Well,
I'm sure it isn't hard to tell;
Is gone for rent and water rates,
For bread and butter, coal and grates.
Hats, caps and carpets, hoops and hose,
And that's the way the money goes!

How goes the money?—Nay,
Don't everybody know the way?
It goes for bonnets, coats and capes,
Silks, satins, muslins, velvets, crapes,
Shawls, ribbons, furs and furbelows,
And that's the way the money goes.

How goes the money?—Sure,
I wish the ways were somewhat fewer!
It goes for wages, taxes debts,
It goes for presents, it goes for bets,
For paints, pomeade, and edu do roses,
And that's the way the money goes.

How goes the money?—Now
I've scarce begun to mention how;
It goes for feathers, faxes, rings,
Toys, dolls and baby's things,
Whips, whistles, candles, belts and bows,
And that's the way the money goes.

How goes the money?—Come,
I know it doesn't go for rum;
It goes for schools and Sabbath chimes,
It goes for charity sometimes,
For missions and such things as those,
And that's the way the money goes.

How goes the money?—There,
I'm out of patience I declare!
It goes for plays, and daimond pins,
For public aims and private sins,
For hollow shame and silly shows,
And that's the way the money goes.

BUILDING ON THE SAND.

BY ELIZA COOK.

'Tis well to woo, 'tis well to wed,
For so the world has done
Since myrtle grew, and roses blew,
And morning brought the sun.
But have a care, ye young and fair,
Be sure you pledge with truth;
Be certain that your love will wear
Beyond the days of youth!
For if we give not heart for heart,
As well as hand for hand,
You'll find you've played the unwise part,
And "built upon the sand."

'Tis well to save. 'Tis well to have
A goodly store of gold,
And hold enough of the shining stuff,
For charity is cold.
But place not all your hope and trust
In what the deep mine brings;
We cannot live on yellow dust,
Unmixed with purer things.
And he who piles up wealth alone,
Will often have to stand Beside his coffin chest and own
'Tis "built upon the sand."

'Tis good to speak in kindly guise,
And soothe the wher or we can;
Fair speech should bind the human mind,
And love link man to man.
But say not all the gentle words,
Let deeds with language dwell;
The one who piles up words alone,
Should scatter crumbs as well.
The mercy that is warm and true
Must lend a helping hand,
For those who talk, yet fail to do,
But "build upon the sand."

Jeremy Mason, the great New England criminal lawyer of Daniel Webster's boyhood, was engaged as a counsel in the celebrated trial of Rev. E. K. Avery, a Methodist divine, for the murder of a young lady in Rhode Island. He experienced great difficulty in obtaining evidence sufficient to establish his case, when one night towards twelve, as he was hard at work, a well known clergyman rushed in upon him, breathless with excitement, and exclaimed:

"Mr. Mason, Mr. Mason, I have got the evidence that will clear brother Avery."

"Well sir, what is it?"

"Yes sir, I have it. I had a dream last night in which the angel Gabriel appeared, and said that Avery was innocent."

"Very good, sir; then take that summons and have it served on Gabriel at once."

ACCIDENTS—"BY FLOOD AND FIELD."—We believe the number of accidents during the past year has been far in excess of any previous year in a long series. We were led this morning to enumerate the number of casualties recorded in our exchanges by one-mail, and found that they were no less than 447 killed and 188 severely wounded from the following causes:

4 Steamboats blown up
2 Steamers wrecked
5 Railroad accidents
1 Locomotive blown up
4 Fires
3 Explosions of Kerosene Lamps
1 Fall
2 Accidental shots
4 Murders
1 Choked to death while eating.

We also see it stated that there have been 5,272 lives lost within the past 12 years by steamboat accidents, and that within the past year there have been 271 lives lost on the street railroads in New York.—Mobile Advertiser.

At Knoxville, Tenn., on the 13th Lieutenant Colonel Dyer, formerly an officer in Colonel Brownlow's regiment, was wantonly shot down and killed, by a negro guard to-day, who had ordered him to halt, without giving him time to do so.

The citizens were so incensed that they dragged the negro from the office of the Freedmen's Bureau, and hanged him over the door. The greatest excitement prevails in the city.
